"THINGS THAT FARMERS HAVE TO BUY."

From the Bulletin of The Searle Grain Company, Limited.

As in all previous periods of great depression, it is fashionable and popular for investigations to be made into many phases of business and conduct. Practically every detail of production, handling, marketing and distribution of goods and commodities from one group to another is being investigated.

As far as we know, however, the only field that is not being looked into at this moment apparently, is the reason why the prices of the "Things That Farmers Have to Buy" are still 28.3 per cent higher than they were before the War. There would seem to be good scope here for a detailed survey and analysis to be made. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics, for instance, or one of the departments of economics of any of our Canadian universities might well apply themselves to such an investigation for the high price of the "Things the Farmers Have to Buy" is of very deep and real concern to all of us.

It is not realised perhaps as well as it might be among our farmers and others, that an increase in the price of things they buy really amounts to the same as a decrease in price of wheat or other products which they

MOTORISTS HEADED FOR WINDSOR, ONT.

On Monday morning a motor party left Stony Plain, bound for the border city of Windsor, Ontario. The party consisted of Mr and Mrs E H Baron, in their Ford V-Eight coach, and Messrs Bill Barth and Vincent Assinger in the Barth auto. On leaving here the motorists figured on taking the trail to Saskatoon and crossing the line in southern Manitoba. They expect to return by the southern route, coming into Alberta at Sweetgrass or Cousta.

The party intend returning in a short time with some new cars and a truck. Mr Barth will be running his new truck, on which will be loaded a new Ford V-8, and will also be trailing another car.

While there the party will cross the river to Detroit, and take a run out to the immense Ford plant, some distance from the city.

Altho it seems rather early in the season for an extended motor trip of this description, the members of the party do not anticipate meeting with any major difficulties on the road.

S. P. Hi. Skating Party.

A very happy time was enjoyed by all who attended the skating party given by the pupils of the high school last week, at the Enders rink.

Following the skating, a dainty lunch was served in the waiting room by the committee, composed of Messrs Al Wudel and Walter Larson; Miss Erma Michael and Miss Anna Wudel.

Good Show, No Patrons.

The Lawless Entertainers did not get much encouragement to pay a return visit to Stony, at their appearance here on Friday night. Owing, no doubt, to the fact that the show had not been sufficiently advertised, or to the fact that this is the Lenten season, a very scant number put in an appearance at the entertainment; and they did not consider it advisable to hold the dance which usually follows. There were seven members in the party.

Carvel Oldtimer Found Dead

One of the oldtimers of the Carvel district, John W Frank, passed away on Sunday Evg. Deceased came to Carvel district in 1907, and homesteaded on the place where he died. It is surmised that on Sunday he had done his chores, baked five loaves of bread, and had lain down on his cot, fully dressed. He was found dead on Monday morning by a neighbor.

Deceased had been living alone for some time, and had no relatives in this country. A brother, A H Frank, at Kaukauna, Wisconsin, was aired to, and under instructions from him the body was removed to Edmonton, where the funeral took place.

sell, and that on the other hand a decrease in the price of the things they buy really amounts to the same as a rise in the price of the products they sell.

Of the 150 items contained in the Searle Index, 20 of them are priced today lower than they were before the War.

The question that might be looked into is as follows: If 20 items can be lower in price than they were before the War, then why should not the other 130 come down also? Just what are the details of the expenses or costs which are maintaining the other 130 items at their comparatively high prices today?

It might also be noted that a number of the services farmers pay for have as well gone up in price since the War.

In contrast to this it might be pointed out that the important service of grain handling costs the farmer less per bushel today than it did before the War—moreover that the costs per bushel of such service did not any time rise when the price of wheat trebled in value during and after the War.

We would not at all claim that there may not be a justification for the higher prices that exist today of the "Things That Farmers Have to Buy."

The only point we make is that farmers and others would feel more satisfied with these prices if the actual causes that brought about the increases, in detail, could be investigated, and made known.

Significant Trends

Whether they believe in them or not, and irrespective of the fact whether they are ardent supporters or skeptical critics, people are deeply interested in the outcome of the various experiments now being tried throughout the world in matters of government, economics and finance. Quite apart from the fact whether or not they are convinced that the old order has, as some contend, broken down beyond all hope of repair and is now definitely and forever passing away, or, on the contrary, still adhere to the view that while changes are taking place, mistakes corrected, abuses eliminated, and improvements made, the old order is essentially sound and will prevail and achieve greater triumphs than ever before, people cannot be indifferent to present day events and the influence which such events are bound to have upon their lives and the times in which they live.

But, as has been noted and commented on many times, we are a credulous people. Of the American people it was said that they thought prohibition, termed a noble experiment, would end liquor and the saloon, and later that they thought the repeal of prohibition would end the bootlegger. Now, under the N.R.A., the United States has embarked upon another experiment, —the business of making rules for business. Rules have been laid down in nearly 600 codes governing 600 industries; and the problem now is how these rules are to be forced. For it has to be recognized that there are many men in every trade who can be counted on to invent devices, as the bootlegger did, for chronic evasion.

As a matter of fact, a small army is now employed across the line in the task of ferreting out evasions and seeking to convict violators of the various N.R.A. codes and thus protect those who are honestly endeavoring to carry out the obligations imposed upon them and their businesses under the New Deal. But notwithstanding all these efforts, a well known authority makes the statement that it is quite safe to say that in the great majority of codes there is no enforcement because any attempt to enforce the rules would lead to abandonment of the code. For this reason there is a strong group in Washington which demands that an immense section of the rules be abandoned. In fact, the proposal is now seriously advanced that codes be applied only to those businesses which do an inter-State business and that they no longer be applied to the smaller concerns whose operations are more local and restricted to the State within which the business is located. This is a most significant development. It indicates that practical reformation of business has its limitations.

Turning to the Canadian picture, it would appear that much the same thought is entertained by people on this side of the line. The recent voting throughout the three prairie provinces on the proposal to establish a compulsory egg and poultry pool is one indication. The scheme was defeated in Manitoba by a three to one vote, and in neither Saskatchewan nor Alberta was the required two-thirds majority requirement to carry.

As a result of this voting, it is announced from Ottawa that the compulsory feature will be dropped from all other proposals for the inauguration of schemes under the National Products Marketing Act, and that while efforts will be continued to further develop the idea of co-operation in support of prices and marketing methods, the plan of making any of these schemes compulsory upon an opposing minority has been definitely abandoned. This, too, is significant as indicating that the Canadian people are not ready to accept either the theories or plans of Communism on the one hand or Fascism on the other hand but that they are still firm believers in the ideal and methods of a free democracy.

But, while thus revealing a degree of confidence in the existing order and a belief that necessary reforms can be brought about to correct the evils and remove the abuses which have developed like barnacles upon it, there can be little doubt but that the minds of the Canadian people are firmly fixed upon achieving those very necessary reforms and to do so without loss of time. That is to say, the violators of proper, honest business ethics and methods will be brought to book, made to observe and live up to honest and fair-dealing methods, or forced out of business altogether. There is going to be a New Deal, but it will be invoked and enforced by a free democracy.

Canadian Aviation

Importance Of Canada As Link In World Air Highways

The importance of Canada as a main link in future world air highways was stressed by Hon. Grote Stirling, minister of national defence, at Montreal, in addressing the annual banquet which closed the two-day convention of the Canadian Flying Clubs' Association.

With the future of Canadian aviation in mind, the government looked to the C.P.C.A., to take its leading part. The minister regretted his inability to promise the association further assistance at the present time due to the state of national finances.

He trusted the opportunity would soon be forthcoming when he could feel justified in putting forward proposals to the cabinet that would enable the government, if they accepted his advice, to provide the assistance the association hoped for. "A distinct relationship exists between the department of national defence and the Flying Clubs' Association," he said. The one-time expected clash of interests between the non-permanent flying forces and the flying clubs had never happened. It had been shown the clubs provided the very important task of training young men wishing to gain their commissions in the military aviation service.

COULD NOT SEW A BUTTON ON

Her Hands Were Helpless with Rheumatism

At one time she thought she would lose the use of her right hand. But "a blessing"—in the form of Kruschen Salts—put her right again. "I was in a bad state," she writes. "In fact, I could not do my housework, I was so bad with rheumatism in my arms and hands. I could not sleep at nights, and I thought I would lose the use of my right hand. I could not hold anything, not even a sewing button. My arm would go dead. I was advised to try Kruschen, and inside of three weeks I found such a change. I have kept on taking it, and now I sleep all night—thanks to Kruschen's help and relief." (Mrs.) J. H.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals, which are responsible for rheumatic agony. Other ingredients of these salts assist Nature to expel these dissolved crystals through the natural channel.

Preparing To Visit London

Advance Bookings Of Cunard White Star Line Indicate May Will Attend Silver Jubilee

Large numbers of Canadians are preparing to visit London for the King's Silver Jubilee celebrations, commemorating the reign which began on May 6, 1910 and reaches its 25th anniversary on May 6 of this year, the date to be known as Silver Jubilee Day, according to advance bookings for the first Cunard White Star sailings from Montreal. These are on April 26 when the Alakina to Plymouth, Havre and London, and the Andania to Glasgow, Belfast and Liverpool, will open the St. Lawrence season for this line.

These two sailings are sure to be popular because of the fact that fourth and third class passengers using these two sailings will still be able to take advantage of the special round-trip excursion rates of single fare and one-third which allow 15 days' stay in Europe. This rate is only good until April 30.

Another War Weapon
A German inventor, Herr Kellhaus, has offered the French government a new weapon which would deprive armed forces on land, at sea, and in the air of the power of sight. This weapon can project 1,000,000 candle-power flashes, capable of blinding anyone within its radius. Experiments were carried out on cattle half a mile distant. The beasts dropped sensesless.

China's Food Problems

Little Arable Land Not Now Being Cultivated

Although China's population has increased by 31 per cent. during the last 60 years, despite famines, floods and civil wars, the area of land actually being farmed neither increased nor decreased during those six decades, according to findings given out by the national agriculture research bureau at Nanking.

The official report declares "too optimistic" the belief China's food shortage and over-population problems can be even partially solved by reclaiming land now not used, or by directing settlement to the open spaces of the great northwest. The survey confirms there is little arable land in China not now being cultivated, and classifies the waste places of the northwest as largely unfit for farming.

Bill Introduced In Ontario Legislature For Protection Of Quintuplets

With the aim of making the Dionne quintuplets "special wards of His Majesty the King, as represented by the minister of public welfare of Ontario," Hon. David A. Croil, minister of welfare and municipal affairs, introduced a bill in the Ontario legislature regarding the famous babies of Callander, Ont.

By the bill, cabinet is empowered to appoint a board of guardians with authority over the finances, education and physical well-being of the children.

These "active guardians" will share authority with the father, Oliva Dionne, the "natural guardian," and Dr. Allan Roy Dufosse, whether or not the physician is appointed as a guardian, Mr. Croil said.

World's Fastest Camera

Photographs Flame Travelling At 24,000 Miles An Hour

One of the latest wonders of scientific research is a camera capable of photographing a flame travelling at 24,000 miles an hour.

The fastest camera in the world, it has just been perfected in London at the Department of Chemical Technology at the Imperial College of Science by R. P. Fraser, an inventor, and his assistant, Dr. W. H. Wheeler. It is called the Fraser High Speed Camera No. 5. It costs about $1,000 to build.

By the new knowledge it will give of the behavior of explosion flames the camera may be the means of saving hundreds of lives.

Trans-Atlantic Air Mail Is Expected To Serve Empire At About Cost Of Inland Postage

Sir Eric Geddes, chairman of Imperial Airways, said at a Press Club dinner in London that he believed a satisfactory trans-Atlantic air-mail service would be established in 11 years or two. Arrangements for this service already were being made in Newfoundland, he said.

The possibility of wider and cheaper empire air-mail service was mentioned by Sir Eric. With the help of the post office and the air ministry, he said, "we shall be able to carry air-mail to all the empire at no more cost than the present inland postage."

Arrangements were going forward in Newfoundland, he said, "for the arrival in a year or two of what we believe will be a satisfactory trans-Atlantic mail service and then we shall have practically linked the whole empire." He said new aircraft which Imperial Airways was building with the help of the air ministry were their attempt to solve the long sea crossing with the certainty necessary for a mail route.

The land-locked harbor of St. John's is expected to be used as the Newfoundland base for a projected trans-Atlantic air-mail service, forecast in London by Sir Eric Geddes, chairman of Imperial Airways. It is understood the ocean line would be linked up with the Imperial Airways eastern routes on the other side and with Canadian and American systems on this side.

Oppose British Meat Duty

Australia Objects Strongly To Proposed Levy On Empire Meats

Australia learned definitely that the British government will propose the imposition of a duty of one shilling a pound on foreign meat, one cent on Empire meat, and discontinuance of the present quantitative restrictions on meat imports when present arrangements expire at the end of June.

The Commonwealth government is not prepared to agree to such a policy, Dr. Earle Page, deputy prime minister, said. He added it could only be introduced with the concurrence of all Empire countries and thus if objection was raised to any proposal contemplating the imposition of duties, such a proposal could not be put into effect.

Pending the forthcoming conferences in London between ministers of the various governments, it is anticipated that any further arrangements will be of a purely temporary nature designed to tide over the period elapsing before a long-term policy can be agreed on and put into effect.

Simplicity Is Best

Avoid Using A Long Word When Short One Will Do

"In writing and speaking, be simple," says Dean Alford, "the unaffected, be honest in your speaking and writing. Never use a long word when a short one will do, you always lose by using a long one."

"You lose in clarity; you lose in honest expression of your meaning; and in the estimate of all people who are qualified to judge, you lose in reputation of ability. Efficacy of language may not be in the power of all of us, but simplicity and straightforwardness are."

GARDENING

Gordon E. Smith

Dig—Dig—Dig

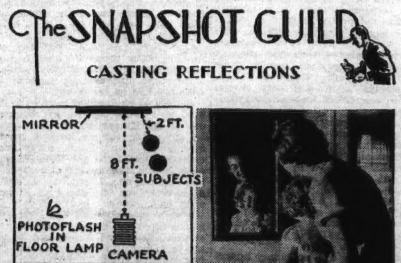

Cultivation is even more important than good soil or fertilizer. A constantly cultivated garden, with weeds kept down, will produce much more than a garden that is not. The stirring of the top soil prevents evaporation of moisture, and it also keeps down those rovers of plant food and water, weeds. The mechanical texture of heavy clay can be remedied by good cultivation. Cultivation is necessary especially during the early part of the season and more particularly after each shower. With some of the many hand, horse or tractor drawn garden cultivators on the market, this task is done quickly and without the old time backache.

Killing Out

Most damage to shrubbery, perennial flowers, roses, strawberry patches, fall wheat and other plants occurs during March or April. It is not the extreme cold of January and February that causes the trouble, but the alternate freezing and thawing and the drying winds of early spring. On fine days things start to grow and the sap comes up from the roots, but at night frost returns and injury results. Crowns, and stems are burnt, buds freeze and grass and other perennial plants heaved out of the soil, their roots broken and exposed to the drying winds. Protection in the form of snow, straw, leaves, or old vegetable refuse is advised at this time and is especially necessary in Southern exposures where the difference between midnight and noon temperatures is much more extreme than elsewhere. This protection must stay on until the dangerous period is passed and then removed gradually. If left on too long, however, growth is spindly and backward.

A Short Out

Good sized potatoes by early July can be produced in short parts of Canada, and this is the time the crop is really appreciated and worth some money. As soon as the ground works up nicely, a small planting may be risked. To further hurry things along, the advice is to plant before planting, it is advisable to spread the seed potatoes out in some frost proof place where they will get much sun as possible through the window. Soon, healthy, stout sprouts will appear and if planted carefully, so as to avoid breaking of the crop will be through the ground in a day or two.

A mirror will bring out that priceless smile of youth.

You may think you have exhausted the supply of picture possibilities in your home but the chances are that there are countless interesting subjects you have completely overlooked.

It is the unusual that attracts attention but it is necessary to use your eyes and a little imagination and ingenuity to focus on these exceptional views, angles, etc., and get pictures that show individuality. Mirror pictures for instance, are intriguing and offer unlimited possibilities if one will do a little experimenting. Let's take the above picture as an example.

When focusing for reflecting images only, it is necessary to add the distance from the mirror to the subject to the distance from the mirror to the lens of the camera and then set the focus accordingly.

If it is desired to include the subject in the picture with the reflected image the focus should be set for the distance from the mirror to the lens. The smaller the lens opening the greater the depth of field and the sharper will be both images. Of course, the nearer the subject is to the mirror the less is required in the matter of depth.

In the picture above, the subjects were about two feet and the camera was about four feet from the subject and reflected image were to be included in the picture the focus was set at six feet. The photoflash was set at 1.6 and a photoflash furnished the light.

Prairie Poultry Marketing Plan Fails To Carry Through Majority Vote Lacking Necessary Weight

Rust-Resistant Wheats

One Of The Greatest Triumphs Of Canadian Agriculture

In two or three years' time the Dominion Department of Agriculture expects to release one or more strains of rust-resistant wheat in substantial quantities. This most important statement comes one of the greatest triumphs of Canadian agriculture in overcoming a very destructive disease that attacks cereal crops.

As a result of years of unrelenting effort, co-ordinated by a committee known as the Associate Committee of Field Crop Diseases, strains of rust-resistant wheat, with what is believed will have the yielding ability, baking, milling, and other ripening qualities of such varieties as Marquis, have been developed. The members of this committee are representatives of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, the National Research Council, and the Western Universities and Colleges, and their work, which covers every phase of cereal breeding, has been aided by pathological researches on rusts, smuts, foot rots and other cereal diseases, has progressed with certainty in the face of what seemed to be insuperable difficulties. So that these strains of the new rust-resistant wheat may not be exploited by anyone to his own financial advantage, the distribution of the seeds will be controlled by the Cereal Division of the Dominion Experimental Farms, until a sufficient quantity has been developed to enable small lots to be distributed to a large number of farmers.

With the exception of a narrow coastal strip, Greenland is covered with a coat of ice 5,000 feet thick; the enormous ice cap is about 1,500 miles long and 630 miles wide.

Poultry producers of Saskatchewan and Alberta voted in favor of a scheme to regulate marketing of poultry and eggs under the Marketing Act, Hon. Robert Weir announced, but the majority was not sufficient to bring the scheme into effect. In Manitoba the scheme was buried under an adverse vote of three to one.

Several schemes under the act have been passed without a poll being taken. In these instances the minister has been convinced there was such unanimity of opinion no vote was necessary. When prairie poultry producers, however, brought forward a scheme, it was recognized there was a wide difference of opinion concerning it. The scheme was altered to meet requirements of the Marketing Act, by the Dominion marketing board and preparations made to appeal to producers.

The Dominion government granted $50,000 to conduct the poll, to be divided $20,000 for Alberta, $20,000 for Saskatchewan and $10,000 for Manitoba. The conduct of the campaign was allowed to register the vote in his or her post office. The poll was held from Feb. 18 to Feb. 23.

The result of the vote was 62.5 per cent for the scheme in Alberta, 63.4 per cent in Saskatchewan and 26.7 per cent in Manitoba.

"That 64,327 farmers were interested enough in the marketing of their product to vote in itself very satisfactory," said Mr. Weir.

"Some may protest that the majority in Saskatchewan and Alberta was not the principle of regulated marketing. The literature sent out by supporters of the scheme specified it would not come into effect unless 64% of the vote was favorable."

"The vote was not on the Marketing Act, it was for and against the particular scheme submitted by the producers themselves," the minister explained.

"I understand those opposing the scheme are preparing to submit another scheme which indicates it was not the principle of regulated marketing they objected to."

One of the chief complaints was said to have been the central selling agency. Many took the view there should be agencies in different parts of the country free to sell to any of the packers or other buyers of eggs and poultry.

Lifeboats Tested On Shore

One Goes To Plant Of Builder Every Trip

Every time the Bremen or the Europa of the North German Lloyd Line arrives in port one of her lifeboats is missing. Each ship carries 26 lifeboats, each of which carries 148 persons, and the thoroughness with which these motor-propelled boats are examined requires more time than is available during the few days the ship stays in port. Therefore, one boat goes to the plant of the builder each trip, and when the vessel gets back to Bremerhaven three weeks later the boat is returned to its place and another is taken off for examination. Each ship is equipped to handle 4,848 persons. In the event of an emergency that calls for the order to abandon ship.

Trees As Memorials

A suggestion has been made that throughout the Empire trees be planted to commemorate the King's Silver Jubilee, which is being celebrated this year. Trees are perhaps the most satisfying form of remembrance and though less enduring than stone monuments and more at the mercy of the elements they should last until the story of their planting is lost in the mists of tradition.

JOHN VAN GUILDER.

SEE FINAL ACT OF THE DRAMA OF GREEK REVOLT

Athens.—Eleutherios Venizelos, leader of the short-lived Greek revolution, took refuge at Rhodes, the tiny island where pirates interned Julius Caesar 2,000 years ago.

Meanwhile the cruiser Averoff, "flagship" of the rebellion which dropped Venizelos, his Anglo-Greek wife and other rebels at the Italian island of Casos, arrived at Salamis to complete the government's conquest of the insurgent fleet.

While the loyalist army continued "mopping up" after routing the rebels in Macedonia, courts martial started grinding away at the grist the 12-day revolt left for them.

Those rebel soldiers who did not flee to neighboring countries probably will be given amnesty, it was indicated, but their officers and those soldiers who joined the movement as volunteers were expected to face military courts.

The Odyssey of the fallen Venizelos, "old fox" of Greek politics and many times the nation's premier, read like the final act of an ancient Greek drama.

Leaving behind him his native Crete, which reports said he meant to declare independent if the revolt failed, the 71-year-old chieftain fled first to the microscopic island of Casos. Thence Italy moved him to the larger Rhodes, 75 miles away, because it was feared angered Greeks, who constitute the majority of the residents of Casos, might attack him.

The government took into custody Stylianos Gonatas, president of the senate and premier of the revolutionary government in 1922.

Following the example of the rebel military leader, General Panayotopoulos, Colonel Pliengas, chief of staff of the seventh revolutionary division, committed suicide to escape capture.

The belief that a mass execution would mark the final chapter of the uprising was widely held in Athens, where it was recalled that a similar fate befell the leaders of Greece's last revolution.

The capital buzzed with talk of the possibility of a monarchist restoration. Greeks cheered and thundered "aito"—Crowd exclamation of acclaim—when pictures of the late King Constantine appeared on the streets and were circulated from hand to hand.

It was understood the government will ask Bulgaria for the extradition of General Kamasos and the other rebels who fled across the frontier.

Heavy Fines For Speeding

British Law Will Be Strictly Enforced In London

London.—The unwary motorist who exceeds 50 miles an hour in London's built-up areas is due for an unpleasant surprise.

Plainclothes policemen and policewomen in cars will be used to trap speeding drivers. The patrols will cruise at 30 miles an hour. Anyone who overtakes the police car will be signalled to halt by a resounding gong. The penalty for a first offence will not exceed £20 (about $97) and for a second offence £50 (about $243).

Good Prices For Steers

Calgary.—George Ross, a southern Alberta rancher, has demonstrated the feasibility of feeding steers in the irrigation district of Vauxhall. Ross has completed sale of 500 finished steers to a Chicago packing company at a reported price of $25,000. Brought in from the range, the steers were "finished" in feeding lots in the Vauxhall district.

Trousers For Unemployed

Ottawa.—A contract for 100,000 yards of drill has been awarded by the government to Dominion Textiles, Limited, of Montreal, according to the House of Commons. The material is to be made into trousers for men employed in government relief camps. Cost of the material, less sales tax, will be $22,700.

Committee To Investigate

Will Suggest Means To Deal With Unemployment Among Veterans

Ottawa.—Unemployment in the ranks of ex-service men will be the subject of investigation by a committee which will recommend to Hon. D. M. Sutherland, minister of pensions and national health, the best means of dealing with this problem.

An order-in-council authorizing the inquiry was passed following representations made by the Canadian Legion.

The committee will consist of Hon. Justice J. D. Hyndman, Ottawa; Col. C. B. Price, Montreal, and W. B. Woods, Toronto.

The committee will carry out an investigation into existing facilities for provision of employment for ex-service men, for their care and maintenance while unemployed, and report with such recommendations as may be deemed advisable.

The appointment of a committee to investigate the unemployment situation among ex-service men is highly gratifying, resulting as it does from representations made by the Canadian Legion for such action, said Brigadier General Alex. Ross, C.M.G., Dominion president of the legion here.

All For Peace

Ramsay MacDonald Says White Paper Is A Peace Document

London.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, tired and showing the ravages of the severe cold that has kept him abed the last week, returned to duty to authorize another denial of reports he is about to resign.

Nevertheless, rumors continued that the veteran leader's retirement is likely, with general reconstruction of the cabinet following.

The prime minister presided at the cabinet session and struck out vigorously in defence of the "white paper" which he wrote to accompany increased estimates for British defence in 1935.

An old fighter for the cause of peace, the prime minister characterized the "white paper" as a "peace document."

"Peace is written on its forehead; peace is its concluding thought; peace is its purpose throughout."

Despite his physician's orders, MacDonald has been working very hard of late, and this has had its effect. His health is far from that robustness which he hoped last year's Canadian vacation would bring.

Trains Collide

Eleven Persons Injured When Freight And Passenger Trains Meet In Blinding Snow Storm

Canadoc, Ont.—Eleven persons were injured here when a Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train and a freight train collided during a blinding snow storm.

Most seriously hurt was Engineer Malcolm D. McTaggart, of London, Ont., in charge of the westbound passenger train, who incurred back injuries in a leap from the locomotive cab when he saw a collision was inevitable.

The other ten suffered shock, cuts, in two cases minor fractures, but were able to continue to their destinations on the next train.

Retiring From Railway Board

Ottawa.—A. D. Cartwright, secretary of the board of railway commissioners, is retiring at the end of this month after 31 years of service. Mr. Cartwright, son of the late Sir Richard Cartwright, minister of trade and commerce in the Laurier government, was the secretary of the original board headed by the late Hon. A. G. Blair. He has held office continuously since then.

Trade Mission To Far East

Montreal.—Over 100 Canadian business men are expected to sail from Vancouver, October 5, for China, Japan and Manchoukuo on a trade mission sponsored by the Canadian Association of Commerce. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association is co-operating. W. McL. Clarke, secretary of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said about 500 bookings have already been made.

VANCOUVER'S MAYOR

Mayor G. G. McGeer of Vancouver, who recently appeared before the private bills committee of the British Columbia Legislature to discuss a bill to amend Vancouver's city charter.

Will Allow No Laxity

Penal Sections Of Reform Measure To Be Enforced

Ottawa.—Rigid enforcement of the penal sections of the government's reform measure, was promised by Hon. Wesley Gordon, minister of labor. He was addressing a delegation of the Confederation of Catholic Laborers of Canada.

"If there is to be any laxity on behalf of persons or firms which break these laws, the effectiveness of these measures would not only be imperilled, they would be destroyed," he said.

The unemployment insurance, day-of-rest and the eight-hour day bills all have penalty provisions. The question was raised when the delegation asked that companies which break labor laws lose their charters after two offences and that dismissal of a workman because he has joined a union should be considered a misdemeanor. The minister said the complaint applied more to provincial than Dominion laws, but the reform statutes now before parliament would be vigorously enforced.

Great War Financing

Canada Borrowed $1,447,138,558 For War Purposes

Ottawa.—From August 1914, until the demobilization of the Canadian overseas military forces was completed, this country borrowed $1,447,138,558 for war purposes, Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes told H. E. Spencer (U.P.A., Battle River), in the House of Commons. All of this amount was borrowed in Canada.

Answering a further question the minister said $1,339,526,528 of bonds were issued free of taxation.

Suspension Of Interest

Mayor McGeer Not Asking For Repudiation Of Vancouver's Obligation

Victoria.—"If the British Columbia government will give Vancouver the same kind of treatment as the province received from the national government, then we will be able to get by without default," Mayor G. G. McGeer told the private bills committee of the legislature.

The mayor was speaking to a proposal that Vancouver be given power to suspend for two years the payment of more than three per cent interest on its bonds.

If the province would give the city an $800,000 grant as proposed in the report of Thomas Bradshaw, Toronto financial expert, there would be no need to cut the interest, the mayor said.

He declared the city was not asking power to make a final repudiation of its obligation, but merely a suspension which would enable it to get straight within two years.

R. H. Fooley, Unionist, Equimont, suggested the McGeer approach to government to pay the excess interest above three per cent and get by that way for one year. Then there would be no question about the city's credit in future borrowings.

"I'd be delighted, if they did that," said the mayor.

Want To Celebrate

Unemployed Of Edmonton Want Cash Donation For Jubilee

Edmonton.—Edmonton's unemployed want to celebrate the king's jubilee, but they must have the aid of the city's relief department to fulfill their desire.

A petition has been presented to the city council urging the unemployed be given special gift of 50 cents for every relief recipient "to enable us to celebrate the king's jubilee."

The relief recipients were given $1 each as a Christmas gift and it was in cash. No action has been taken on the jubilee request.

Demand For Cars

Production In Automobile Plants Shows Increase

Windsor, Ont.—Heavy increases in employment and production, ranging as high as 77 per cent, in the former and 100 per cent, in the latter for January and February of this year are reported by automotive companies in the Border Cities.

In some instances demand has been so heavy it has been impossible to build up cars for stock purposes. The peak of production is not expected to be reached until another month or so.

FRENCH SCIENTISTS SEE UNUSUAL DEMONSTRATION

Our picture shows Monsieur Lumiere demonstrating what is claimed to be the first practical system of stereoscopic film projection at the Academie des Sciences, Paris. The system is not new and M. Lumiere does not claim in any sense to have invented it. Hitherto, the glasses or screen used, have not contained exactly complementary colors, with the result that the eye quickly tired. M. Lumiere claims to have perfected the glasses so that it is possible to watch stereoscopic films with no strain on the eye.

TARIFF BOARD IS TO INVESTIGATE MOTOR CAR COSTS

Ottawa.—Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes formally authorized Chairman George H. Sedgewick of the tariff board to undertake "at your earliest convenience" an investigation into the automotive industry in Canada, "particularly as regards the bearing thereupon of customs and excise duties or taxes."

The reference is a broad one embracing "the matter of the relationship of the production of parts to the larger industry, and of both to the general consuming interest."

The action follows a decision reached by the government over a month ago when motor car manufacturers in Canada were advised by Mr. Rhodes that the disparity between the price of cars to the consumer in Canada in contrast with the price of similar cars in the United States was "giving the government grave concern." He then stated the government contemplated taking the necessary steps to remedy the situation.

Stating that in his opinion such an investigation was "in the public interest," Mr. Rhodes instructed the chairman that the inquiry "should have regard for the principles and operations of drawbacks for domestic consumption, as well as for such matters as content and costs of distribution; and it should endeavor to appraise the various factors which determine the prices at which motor vehicles shall be sold at retail in Canada."

Study Production Tax

Alberta Government Plans New Ways To Obtain Revenue

Edmonton.—Before making its final report, the Alberta tax inquiry board will study a production tax for this province, said Premier R. G. Field in the budget debate in the legislature.

In view of a number of matters which the government had referred to the board, its final report probably will not be available for some time, he said. An interim report will be submitted to the house shortly.

Referring to new wage or sales taxes proposed or already adopted in other western provinces, the premier said that any suggested levies here would undoubtedly be given careful study by the tax inquiry board.

With statistics, the premier denied the Liberal leader's charge that provincial taxation was causing the confusion of farmers. He showed where provincial revenue from the supplementary revenue tax, for example, had materially decreased since 1921.

Awarded Damages

Calgary.—A jury awarded Fred A. Campbell of Betsker, $24,885 damages against the Regal Oil and Refining Company of Calgary. Campbell was injured during an explosion at the Betsker plant of the company and sued for $40,339 damages. He charged the company had been negligent.

For Service In North

Winnipeg.—One of the largest aeroplanes in Canada, the "Eldorado Radium Silver Express" landed here March 12, piloted by W. L. Brindley of Mackenzie Air Service. The Belanca air cruiser, capable of carrying 2½ tons of freight, left for Edmonton for service in the north.

Sir John Simon To Visit Berlin

London.—Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon and Lord Privy Seal Eden will leave for their visit to the German government at Berlin on March 24, it was announced. They will return here March 27 after conversations on European security with Chancellor Adolf Hitler.

Porcelain Archives

Jerusalem.—Discovery of porcelain archives 2,500 to 3,000 years old, apparently belonging to the leading prices of Judaea was revealed here. The find was regarded of vast importance as corroboration of Bible stories during the pre-Solomon era.

AGRICULTURAL SHORT COURSE AT STONY.

The Addresses Given at the Conference Here on Tuesday Proved to Be Both Interesting and Instructive.

The hall where the Agricultural Course was given was fairly well filled when the proceedings opened, and was crowded before the close of the session.

Mr Cunningham, Poultry Field Man of the Dept. of Agriculture, gave a very enlightening discourse on his favorite subject "Poultry."
He dealt with the subject of chicks from the time of their emergence from the shell until they make their final appearance in the poultryer's stall.
Nothing, apparently, was overlooked by Mr Cunningham in the in-between stages.

When the questioning stage was reached, and questions, mostly from ladies present, asked, some more very interesting and pertinent matter was given.

At the close of Mr Cunn-ingham's remarks the platform was taken by S G Carlyle, Alberta's Livestock Commissioner. The subject taken was
"Production and Marketing of Bacon Hogs." To illustrate his remarks there had been erected on the platform a tripod, from which hung 3 hog sides, Bacon, Butchers and Selec, and thru his remarks
Mr Carlyle made frequent reference to these. He reviewed the marketing of Canadian hogs in the Old Country from its inception to the present time.

THE TENDERFOOT

By GEORGE B. RODNEY
Author of "The Coronado Trail," "The Canyon Trail," Etc.

"We sure did. And on the way home, when Dustin tried to ride me down in the golpe de caballo, I upset him and I went through his pockets. I found in his pocketbook a note for eleven thousand borrowed on the Hour-glass that he got from Mr. Pegram. Pegram sold the note to Dustin. That's how things stand."

"Uh-huh. And that means that if Dustin sues out the note, he'll have Joe's share of the Hour-glass." Joe can't meet that note right now, you know."

Again Stone nodded.

"And that means, of course," said Crews moodily, "that Dustin can ruin Joe. Joe's past sixty right now. He only knows cattle. This is his last stake. You know Edith right good. If she ever gets the idea into her red-head that, by marrying Dustin, she can save her father's she's damned likely to do it. She'd even marry that dirty hound Dustin to save Joe."

"You forget one thing... two things... That ore may be what I feel sure it is..."

"I'll take a year to get even a hundred per cent. mine to workin'," said Crews. "There'll be a lawsuit first over it."

"We'll find that man Kane," said Stone confidently. "And, too, Gerald Keene'll be in to-morrow night. Something'll turn up."

"By Heaven, that's so. If this Gerald Keene is his uncle, he'll never see old Joe shoved to the wall. I'm going in to Seco to meet him to-morrow. I've got to go to the bank to try to raise money for our payroll... Nine hundred dollars. You better go with me."

"I'd like to see you stop me. I'm for the bunkhouse now." And Stone strode back toward the house.

Halfway to the bunk-house he was stopped by Edith. For a moment she regarded him wordlessly. Her lips were unsmiling, but there was a light in her eyes that he had never seen but once.

"What has happened?" she asked breathlessly.

"Not much. I told Jameson of the Seco paper about the ore and he will have Buxton give an expert opinion on it. The most important thing is that he's tryin' to find Kane."

"That can't help much," she said. "My one hope is in Daddy's new partner, Mr. Keene. He may be able to help us if he will. Do you know what that beast Dustin said to Daddy?"

"He said him pretty much what Crews had already said."

"Of course he wants to marry you," he said curtly. "Who in his senses wouldn't?"

"And at a sudden light in his eyes, she gave back a little and her laugh was a little strained. "The fool..." The utter fool to think that he can buy a girl like you..."

"What do you mean by that? Buy me?"

For one brief minute he could not decide whether to tell her or not... Then he told. Her eyes widened as she listened and when he stopped, she laid a hand gently on his arm.

"I'm glad you told me this," she said quickly. "If I saw Daddy had borrowed some money but I did not know from whom he got it..."

"Your father doesn't yet know that Dustin holds the note," he said. "You'd better not tell him that yet. Wait till Kane gets here."

"I will be careful. I am glad to know the worst at least. I know at least where the thunder will come from."

"You will not even consider marrying that man Dustin, will you?"

"Would you drink poison if you were thirsty and if you knew it was poison?" she countered. "Good night. But her eyes told him unreluctantly."

Crews drew him aside after dinner the next day.

"Damn it all," he said. "Old Joe insists on goin' in to Seco with us. I tried to head him off. If he goes to the bank to get the money for the pay-roll, he may find out about that note. It's sure to come up. If he finds that Pegram sold his note to Dustin, he'll likely go on the prod."

Even Edith could not keep her father at home. During that drive he was cranky and querulous, and Stone sensed fight.

"Go straight to the bank..." Carr's usually pleasant voice was a snarl.

Stone headed the car for the bank and stopped under a tree and Carr, with Crews at his heels, strode into the bank. Peters, seeing them enter, ducked into his cage, and old Pegram, his face flushed to a dusky tone, dived like a rabbit for his private office. The next moment Joe Carr burst into the room. A sudden babel of raised voices swung out of the empty bank.

"Good Lord," muttered Stone. "The fat's probably in the fire by now. I wonder if I had better have told him about that note of his that Dustin holds."

He was dimly aware that the centre of the trouble had drifted into Pegram's private office. One or two men in the street, hearing the voices raised in anger, stopped, grinned significantly and went on up the street. It was no new thing in Seco to have a sudden war start in Pegram's office. Suddenly old Joe Carr shot out of the place. His very beard was curling with wrath and his eyes were blazing. He stumbled into the car and Crews pitched in beside him.

"Take it easy, Joe," he said in a low tone. "No need to let all Seco know your affairs. Take it easy, I tell you. Did you get the cash for the pay-roll?"

"Oh, that! Yes. I got that on a thirty-day note for fifteen per cent..." He laughed mirthlessly. "Do you know what that damned dog Pegram has done?" he said in a low, tense tone. "He held my note for eleven thousand secured by the half of the Hour-glass. Damn! If he hasn't sold the note... To Dustin, of all men! That's why that damned cur had the nerve to come to me to tell me he wants to marry Edith."

His face suffused with blood and his breath drew hard.

"... I told Pegram I'd settle that note up on time."

"... So I will, just as soon as I can make arrangements with Gerald Keene, my partner. Damn it all! He'll buy the ranch from me if I say the word. How do I know? Hell, man! Isn't this Gerald Keene old Peter Vinton's kin? Wouldn't I have done the same for old Peter?"

And Frank Crews, who knew that Joe was speaking the plain, unvarnished truth, said nothing. Carr matched out his watch and glanced at it.

"We've got time to get a drink at the Silver Dollar before we meet the train," he snipped.

"We don't want anything to drink," expostulated Stone. "It's late now. The only reason you got into the bank was because it's open after hours."

Carr glared at him. For an employee to give him any back-talk was unheard of but... He reflected that this man Stone was a close friend of this Gerald Keene, and this man Keene was an unknown quantity.

"You go to hell, son," he said with heavy pleasantry. "You do as you're told. Drive to the Silver Dollar."

Stone glanced at Crews and a quick nod reassured him. He stopped the car before the Silver Dollar and stayed in the car while Carr, with Crews behind him, entered the place. A moment later a hand was laid on his arm and Jameson stopped by him.

"I got some news for you, Stone," he said briefly. "I took that ore to Buxton. He's about crazy over it. He's says it's 'ham boiled in champagne.' You know what an assayer means when he says that. He kept at me for an hour askin' where it comes from and if there is much of it. I stalled him off. By the way..."

How did that big sample get covered with blood?"

"Big sample? ... Stone stared at him. "Blood? ... What are you talking about, Jameson?"

"I'm talkin' about that biggest sample that you brought in. You had it in your coat pocket. Did you have a fight?"

"No. I don't understand. I seem to remember that I did notice a dark stain on it when I picked it up..."

By the way, I got that ore specimen from the place where the camp-fire was. That's probably where the blood came from. Have you succeeded in finding old man Kane yet?"

"No. No one has seen him for some time. They tell me he was being grub-staked by Dustin at the Broken Spur. That's what you said, too. I may have to see Dustin. It's barely possible that that old fool Paycol Greag may be able to give us some information about Kane. I saw

On the Side.

That was a good suggestion which was made at the recent board of trade meeting by Mr H B Bjork, that the local merchants should hold a "smoker," to which all farmers in the district would be invited, with the idea of generating a better feeling between those in town and country. Mr Bjork related how, when in business in a Saskatchewan town, the merchants there frequently had these get-together parties, which were none the less acceptable to all on account of the splendid refreshments served.

—A certain enterprising poultryman down at Hansen's Corners intends to cross his hens with parrots. He used to hunt around for the eggs, but he expects those in the new batch when hatched, to walk up to him and say: "Hi, Hank! I just laid an egg! Go get it!"

—Weather forecast: More or less winter.

—The Barber's Dog is getting thin. He ain't got much to eat.

He only gets the bits of ears that fall by the Barber's feet.

—Sparkie's Magazine.

—It's nice to sit on a frosty night,

With a roaring fire and a cheery light,

And write an order for garden seeds,

Far bigger than either our wants or needs.

Our sales-resistance is very low, So far ahead of the tyrant hoe!

That's why the seedsmen always send Their seed lists 'fore the winter's end!

Card of Thanks.

Mr John Staub wishes to thank very heartily the Ratepayers of Division 6, Inga M. D., for the expression of confidence placed in him at the recent Municipal elections.

Pay Douglas on Results.

"We come forward with a suggestion to the Government, if not too late," says the Coronation Review. "A neat $5000 payment will be made to Major C H Douglas when he pays us a visit shortly. This is all well and proper, but it should not be done in ordinary contract form. He should be paid, according to his own words, for his 'ability to produce and deliver goods and services, as when and where required.' If he cannot deliver the goods then he should have no credit in Alberta, for he has no ability. Payment should be extended over a period of say 20 years so that it could be decided just what credit was due to the Major."

A STORY ABOUT THE PURCHASE OF A HORSE

A case came up for settlement in the local court before Magistrate McCulla, on Saturday, which was a little out of the ordinary.

Last summer a young man named Cameron visited the farm of C W Barth at Rosenthal, and is said to have offered a horse at the very reasonable figure of $20. After some dickering, the transaction was completed.

A few days after a police officer made his appearance, accompanied by Mr E Tonner, who claimed to be the owner of the horse. He claimed the horse had been sold without his leave, and the officer of the law removed the animal.

Since that time it has been made to appear that the horse had been put in Cameron's charge, to exchange for one more suitable for work on the City's pavements.

At the court session on Saturday, all parties were present, with Mr Cameron represented by counsel.

After some evidence had been taken, the Magistrate set the case over to the District Court.

NEWSY NOTES FROM SPRUCE GROVE DIST.

Another interesting Social Credit meeting was held in the Mishaal Schoolhouse on Monday Evg. March 18. Mr V Goebbel of Edmonton was the speaker.

Mrs Martin Lozinsky is at present visiting with friends at Round Hill, and intends returning to the Grove next week.

James Callihoo, an old-time resident of Spruce Grove district, passed away on Sunday, March 10, at his residence, at the age of 58 years. Funeral was held Tuesday, March 12, a service being held at the St Joseph's church by Rev C Keenan. Interment was made in St Joseph's cemetery. Deceased is survived by his wife and a family of 5 daughters and 7 sons.

Holborn Happenings.

Once again we are astir. After the coming of the warm weather Holborn has become active. Many dances, card parties and other entertainments have taken place and were successful.

March 15 the Juniors held a winter coast on the river flat, and many attended. Sleigh riding, with many thrills, entertained young folks until a late hour.

Quite a large number attended the last Junior meeting. It was decided to have Horse Hill Local put on a play called "There and Back" on March 27. Dance to follow; Ured music. Adm: Adults 35c; children 15c.

A huge crowd attended a Social Credit meeting on March 16. Mrs W W Rogers held the interest of the crowd for over 2 hours. On the close of her address, the lady answered numerous questions.

SOCIAL CREDIT SOON TO BE THE BUY WORD

This Social Credit agitation at present going on is sure taking a firm hold on people in town and country, and no fooling! A large crowd—some 1800—listened to Mrs W W Rogers in McDougall church, Edmonton, on Friday night, with an overflow meeting in the church basement, and loud speakers for those on the outside who could not gain admission.

The day following, Saturday the same lady addressed a large audience which filled the hall at Onoway. In the evening she drove thru Stony, and headed for Holborn, where she gave another address to the UFA members and others, who filled the Holborn hall. At Holborn Mrs Rogers concluded her address with an appeal to her hearers to support Social Credit candidates in the next Provincial election.

The Parliamentary Show.

(By J. S. Cowper.)

At a dinner given by the Liberal members during the past week to Press Gallery members, a silver tray bearing the facsimile signatures of his 12 supporters was presented to W R Howson, the Liberal leader.

In proposing the toast of the Liberal leader, Mr Ross, member for Calgary, predicted Mr Howson will be the next Premier of Alberta, and will make a name for himself in provincial history for ability in office.

Mr Howson lead all critics, the way he tore into the Government for having sold its soul to the money lending interests of Canada, in discussing the Budget brought down by Hon J R Love, in which a deficit of $700,000 is forecasted.

Pointing out that in the previous 4 years when surpluses totalling $237,641 had been forecasted, there had instead been deficits totalling $12,261,635, Mr Howson expressed the hope that the new Provincial Treasurer would prove a better guesser than his predecessor—Premier Reid.

Premier Reid has announced that on April 1—All Fools' Day—the tax on gasoline will be increased from 6c a gallon to 7 cents a gallon.

BETTER SEED

Means Better Farm Income

A few bushels of commercial grain—at a very little money—exchanged for a few bushels of Registered or Certified Seed, inspected and sealed in the sack, will return to any farmer better grade, less dockage and higher yield for his crop; hence better income.

See the Searle or Home agent; he has a special plan to help farmers secure good seed cheaply.
